EnCana Academic Scholarship Announcement

EnCana Oil & Gas (USA) Inc. is in search of high school seniors who exhibit a solid academic record, embody community involvement and leadership, and plan to pursue a post-secondary education related to the oil and gas industry.

Scholarship recipients will be awarded a maximum of $10,000 – $2,500 per year for up to four years. Scholarships will be awarded annually to qualified graduating seniors where EnCana has active operations, including the following Parishes: Red River, DeSoto, Caddo, Bossier, Sabine and Natchitoches.

“Our goal is to invest in our future workforce by providing scholarship funds for either a two-year diploma, certificate in a trades program, or a four-year college degree,” said Joyce Witte, EnCana community investment advisor. “EnCana’s scholarship program provides the resources for our youth to advance their education, and enhances the quality of developing a sustainable workforce. We all benefit.”

The student must declare a field of study in petroleum, chemical, mechanical or environmental engineering, geology, geophysics, or technical/trade programs such as Oil & Gas Process Technology or Land Administration.

Last year’s scholarship recipients were Hunter Fulton of North DeSoto High School, Derrick Moran of Red River High School, and Leigh Ann Hauser of Airline High School.

All qualified seniors are encouraged to submit an application. The scholarship is awarded directly to the student, and can be used for any college-related financial need, including tuition and fees, textbooks and rent.

Final selections of the scholarship winners will be made by individual school districts. For eligibility, application deadlines and more information about EnCana’s Scholarship Program, please check with your school or e-mail communityinvestmentusa@encana.com.
